Reflexology For STRESS & ANXIETY

(And Why You Should Try It)

WHAT IS REFLEXOLOGY?

Reflexology is not a foot massage nor is it an alternative to conventional medicine.

It is an holistic, powerful complementary therapy which considers the whole person, including their physical, mental, and emotional health, while taking social factors into account.

Reflexology is practiced using gentle pressure with only the fingers or thumbs on points of the feet or hands. These points reflect specific areas of the body. In this way the body is encouraged to work to 100% of its capacity, returning the body's systems to a natural state of balance, enhancing the recipient's own natural healing capabilities. At the end of your treatment your reflexologist will be able to advise a suitable course of treatment for your individual needs.

Reflexology can reduce stress by inducing deep relaxation. In this way it can be particularly helpful in combating recurring and long-term conditions.

WHY SHOULD I TRY REFLEXOLOGY?

Reflexology is wonderfully relaxing. And everyone can benefit from some time taken to relax and reduce the stresses of today's busy lifestyle. However, many clients report that reflexology can be particularly helpful in dealing with many of those long term and recurring conditions that many of us think we just must accept as normal.

Reflexologists often talk about 'balancing' the body. This is because we work holistically, and our aim is to achieve and help maintain a balance with our client's mind, body and spirit.

To explain, most of us, at one time or another don't quite feel ourselves. A bit off colour perhaps or we may develop a condition that we can't seem to clear. This is what reflexologists mean by being out of 'balance'. I have been trained to feel imbalances within the reflexes of the feet or hands and what to do to help these areas achieve that state of balance. This in turn helps to stimulate the body's own healing process, and the method by which I aim to help you.

WHAT HAPPENS AT A TREATMENT?

An initial consultation takes place during which your problem can be discussed in complete confidence. You will be asked some questions which will help me to formulate your own personal treatment plan. At the first session it is a good idea to bring with you a note of any medication you are taking, together with the dosage.

After removing your footwear and being made comfortable on a couch, I will be working on the feet, (or the hands where appropriate). Gentle pressure is applied with only the fingers and thumbs in order to feel the various reflex areas and points, and to find which, if any, need particular attention.

As the recipient of reflexology, you may feel very relaxed and calm. Many clients report an increase in energy and find their productivity and creativity improve. General health may also improve with the help of regular treatment, and we know it can help in a preventative way, by boosting the immune system.

Probably the worst thing that can happen to you at a treatment is that you will have the most relaxing hour ever!

Reflexology For FERTILITY

(And Why You Should Try It)

all of the body systems to work together to their optimum.

This is so important for fertility.

As we have said, stress can have a negative effect on the ability to conceive, and as Reflexology is a very relaxing and restorative treatment, together with your Reflexologist, it can help you to understand and reduce your stress. Your reflexologist will be able to help balance your hormones, and can help to regulate the menstrual cycle.

Reflexology is a gentle, non-intrusive treatment and can be very successful in relieving the anxiety of trying to become pregnant.

Please give me a call for a chat about how I might be able to help you.

you make sure your lifestyle matches all the expert advice. In short you do everything you can to boost your fertility but for some reason you are still not pregnant.

Trying to become pregnant has become an all-consuming and above all an anxious and stressful experience.

And stress is a major reason for not becoming pregnant. You have done everything you can, but it seems you are just going round in circles.

So, as you would expect, I have explained reflexology to you, I will ask you to take off your footwear and make you comfortable on the couch. I will be working with gentle pressure on your feet, or hands if appropriate, and this pressure is applied to only with fingers and thumbs.

This helps me to feel the various reflex areas and points to find out if any need any particular attention.

As a client, you will feel very relaxed and calm, often clients actually go to sleep during a treatment!

What is REFLEXOLOGY?

(And Why Is It So Great?)

Professional Reflexology Practitioner Diploma (PRD)

The PRD is slightly different to other reflexology courses that are around. It has been developed taking into account the comments from our recent surveys and feedback from students over the last couple of years. It was important for us to listen to what everyone had to say, and this has been a huge factor in the process.

Written by practising reflexologists and tutors with over 50 years of experience, the PRD has a modern, focused structure with a high proportion of the course specified for practical reflexology. The core units of the course provide the underpinning knowledge vital to a high-quality basis for training. Unique to the PRD, each school chooses a number of additional units from our ancillary list. This means that they will be able to choose, teach and gain recognition for subject areas about which you are passionate.

We are the first to introduce mandatory minimum hours of in-class practical training, after all, that is the most important part when treating a client. We have ensured that all aspects of the course are relevant to the practising Professional Reflexologist running a business.

The PRD has a robust system for both Internal and External Verification

Another aspect of which we are proud is that we are dedicated to making use of technology and keeping everything as "green" as possible. We have developed and tested an easy-to-operate "cloud" based system which is invaluable, not only for students but in helping schools to administer coursework, case studies, marking etc.

If you're interested in finding out more, just drop us a line and we will send you a brochure with more information.

What our members say...

I really just wanted to say a very big thank you to you all for the exceptional level of information and keeping us informed. I practice reflexology alongside another employed role in healthcare and I can honestly say the information received from yourselves has been more helpful than that received from my employer. The getting back to work packs are great and I am busy preparing myself for my first client back after lockdown. Thank you for your support and continual enthusiasm for raising the profile of the profession...

Membership with Professional Reflexology is worth every penny!

Paula, PR Member, July 2020 ”

To all at PR, I just wanted to say a few words about how thankful I am for your work. I have been a Reflexologist for 13 years and have been a PR member for the past 3. I can honestly say it was the best decision I have made. I have never been particularly versed in the internet and social media, but as I use it all more and more for my business I have found your downloads, tips and advice invaluable, and have picked up many new clients having used them. I also find your general outlook and attitude a breath of fresh air and cannot thank you enough for everything!
